Winter conditions can be hard on wheel end seals ...

Water, mud, road grime and temperature changes can increase the risk of contamination, leading to bearing wear, lubricant issues and costly downtime.

SKF Scotseal X-Treme seals are designed to help protect wheel ends in demanding conditions, making them a strong choice for workshops, engineers and fleets heading into winter.

Hand installable

- Installs quickly and correctly by hand.
- Requires no special installation tool.
- Helps eliminate installation issues and costly rework.
- Saves time searching for the correct tool by seal part number.

Advanced sealing materials

- HNBRX material provides outstanding performance and extreme heat resistance.
- EPDM material on the ID helps create a reliable seal, even on worn spindles.
- Helps provide longer life in contaminated conditions.
- Compatible with all popular synthetic lubricants.

Unitised design with four sealing lips

- Provides clean running surfaces for sealing lips.
- Three metal unitiser rings protect the sealing lips during installation and service.
- Primary Waveseal sealing lip sweeps oil back onto the bearings for cooler operation.
- Three dirt barriers help keep out contaminants and extend service life.

Backed for long-term confidence

- Five year / 500,000 mile warranty.
- Designed to help keep wheel ends protected through winter and beyond.

TRAYLA TRAILERS

For more than 30 years, Trayla Trailers has been manufacturing New Zealand-made trailers for customers across the country. Based in Levin, the family-run business supplies everything from smaller single axle trailers through to larger commercial trailers, supporting domestic customers, lifestylers, farmers, construction operators, small businesses and larger commercial clients.

Trayla Trailers began back in 1991 on State Highway One in Plimmerton, when Dave Hobbs started out as a one-man-band under the name Trailer Centre. Around nine years later, Dave and his wife moved the business to Levin, where the Trayla brand became established and grew into a well-recognised name nationwide. Since then, more than 25,000 trailers have been produced, with the team continuing to manufacture from their Levin premises.

Today, Trayla Trailers offers a wide range of standard domestic and commercial trailers available directly from their yard, while also working with customers on custom-builds to suit more specific requirements. The team is constantly reviewing and adding to its portfolio to meet the practical needs of Kiwi customers.

What sets Trayla Trailers apart is its combination of local manufacturing, competitive pricing and reliable service. From sales through to repairs, the team takes pride in maintaining high standards across every part of the business. As a small family-run operation, every team member plays an important role in keeping those standards consistent.

TWL has been part of the Trayla Trailers story for more than 25 years, supplying the parts and support needed to keep day-to-day operations moving. Trayla Trailers has built a strong working relationship with the TWL Palmerston North team, with regular contact throughout the week through their dedicated sales representative.

That close relationship supports both everyday supply and larger projects. Whether it is discussing new componentry, sourcing parts quickly or supporting ongoing production requirements, TWL helps Trayla Trailers keep things moving with confidence.

"Our longstanding relationship means that we work well together and know that we can rely on TWL to deliver. Local proximity to us means that we can get parts quickly."

For Trayla Trailers, the reason for continuing to work with TWL is simple.

"We know and trust the TWL offering and team."

Proudly New Zealand manufactured and backed by long-standing supplier relationships, Trayla Trailers continues to support customers with trailers built for the work they need to do.

PUKEKOHE HIAB TRANSPORT

Pukekohe Hiab Transport has been specialising in Hiab and Transport for over 20 years, helping customers get done what others can't do.

Craig and Janine Morris saw the need for specialised Hiab services in the market, and what began as one Mitsubishi truck has grown into a 14-truck fleet.

The family-owned business is located in Pukekohe, and Craig's more than 38 years in the transport industry, is a driving force behind the business. Being family-owned, it's no surprise Craig's son, Jordan was brought into the business as a truck driver and is now splitting his time between the driver's seat and the office as Dispatch and Transport Manager, helping manage day-to-day operations. Both are working together to grow the business and continuing to get jobs done that others can't.

Pukekohe Hiab Transport works across a range of industries, providing on-site support and transporting goods from the top of the North Island to the bottom of the South Island. Industries such as construction, marine transport, farming, and general freight. The team transports and lifts a wide range of goods, from building supplies, containers, machinery, marine equipment and aircraft through to spa pools, generators and large or unusual loads. "Basically, what the customer needs we will find a way to transport it."

TRUCKS, TRUCKS AND MORE TRUCKS... It's no secret the team takes real pride in their trucks, regularly showing them at events, such as the Truckers Showdown and Bombay Truck Show. You will see and definitely hear them on the roads heading to a show and shine near you.

The fleet includes seven hiab trucks fitted with FASSI and PALFINGER cranes, giving the team the flexibility to lift, position and transport loads to suit the needs of each job. The largest unit, for example, can lift 350kg at 33 metres, or up to 13 tonnes at 4 metres! Often working in tandem with the flat decks to efficiently keep the job moving.

Behind every shiny truck is a lot of work behind the scenes, and TWL helps keep the fleet moving. Pukekohe Hiab Transport works closely with Ash, TWL's Pukekohe Sales Rep, who has become a trusted partner to the business.

Whether it is guards, exhaust parts, lights, welding gear or ongoing maintenance supplies, Ash puts in the work to source what the team needs, when they need it.

Custom mudflaps sourced through TWL allows them to maintain their presence on the road at all times and of course keep the trucks looking good. Presentation and reliability matter, having the right supplier support makes a real difference.

With a growing fleet, a hands-on approach to maintenance and getting the job done, Pukekohe Hiab Transport continues to deliver transport solutions, backed by experience, care and pride in the gear they run.

TwinLock™ Jaw Configuration

The TwinLock™ jaw configuration delivers one of the fastest and most dependable fifth wheel-to-kingpin coupling systems in the industry, helping reduce the risk of trailer drop incidents. Its rapid-closing jaw mechanism minimises the chances of coupling delays or failures caused by kingpin bounce or misalignment.

Manufactured from a single piece of forged, precision-machined, and heat-treated steel, the TwinLock system is split into two perfectly matched halves. These symmetrical jaws fully surround the kingpin, providing superior strength, security, and consistent performance under demanding operating conditions.
